For more than 2,000 years, black elderberry has been the go-to botanical for immune support.* And for good reason. Science shows that elderberry is highly effective at keeping the upper respiratory system healthy and well.*

Now, DaVinci® Laboratories offers Liposomal Elderberry, easily absorbed and better able to defend the immune system.* Plus, it's made with ElderCraft® European black elderberry formulated using state-of-the-art technology to enrich powerful active compounds known as anthocyanins. This makes it even more effective in supporting immune health during the cold winter months.*

Supports Upper Respiratory Health***

Liposomal Elderberry soothes a scratchy throat and promotes clear and comfortable sinuses and healthy lungs.* The immune system and overall health may be challenged by a long-distance flight. In one study of air travelers, compared to the people taking a placebo, the travelers using ElderCraft® were had better health outcomes.*

Ramps Up the Effectiveness of Black Elderberry***

The liposomal delivery system means this liquid elderberry supplement is easily absorbed. In addition, Liposomal Elderberry contains ElderCraft® black elderberry, formulated with a solvent-free technology. Unlike harsher extraction processes, it retains important compounds from the original fruit. This enhances elderberry's effectiveness.*

Benefits Beyond the Immune System***

New research using ElderCraft® shows it may promote cardio health, too.* A study of people exercising on treadmills found it supported healthy systolic blood pressure, promoted a healthy heart rate after exercise, and led to less oxygen used to carry out the same amount of work.*
